Case study

Lyrical Lemonade TV

Keeping every show relevant.

We take the shows a network already makes and keep them in front of people every day: cutting real moments into clips, seeding them across fan pages, and activating a community of clippers.

What we sell

Relevance

Your shows stay in the feed between episodes, through clips of the real content.

What we run

Clips, pages, clippers

Clip creation, fan-page seeding and clipper campaigns across every show you make.

What you do

Keep making shows

We handle the clipping and distribution around the content you already have.

Views are platform view counts on every post, not unique people or lift, as of Nov 2026. Clipper figures include every live submission at any review status, including clips later rejected. New York Nights official channels are Lyrical Lemonade's own accounts.
